Item 8.01     Other Events.

The National Association of Insurance Commissioners' (the "NAIC") created a Casualty Actuarial and Statistical Task Force (the "Task Force") that issued a "white paper" on May 19, 2015 regarding price optimization. The Florida Office of Insurance Regulation (the "Florida OIR") published an informational memorandum dated May 14, 2015 (the "OIR Memorandum") acknowledging the discussion industry-wide regarding "price optimization" and indicating that there is no universally recognized definition. The Florida OIR requested insurers to refile any rates currently in effect to which this practice is currently applied.

In connection with its most recent rate filing, Federated National Insurance Company ("FNIC"), the wholly owned insurance subsidiary of Federated National Holding Company (the "Company"), has been addressing the Florida OIR's concerns regarding FNIC's use of analytic models. Pursuant to FNIC's most recent rate filing, FNIC's rates would decrease by approximately 2.5% on its Florida homeowners' policies.

Since the issuance of the OIR Memorandum, the OIR has issued a cease and desist order dated May 19, 2015 to FNIC to cease use of an unfiled analytic model. FNIC has confirmed to the Florida OIR, in a meeting on June 5, 2015 between the Florida OIR and FNIC management, that FNIC would cease using analytic models until they can be submitted and reviewed by the Florida OIR. The Florida OIR has not asserted that FNIC's use of an unfiled analytic model in its underwriting process, constitutes price optimization. The use of the analytic model is presently under Florida OIR review.

Accordingly, effective immediately, FNIC will use its current filed and approved rule-based underwriting to manage all new and existing business, including Florida homeowners.
